

	Faculty Development Program
Title : Inclusive Teaching Pedagogy		Event Outcome - Participants can engage with theoretical presentations
Date : 2025-04-29 - 2025-04-29 Time : 10:00 - 11:30 Venue : TT 707
	Resource Person 1 - Details Name : Simon Thompson Designation : Deputy ProVice Chancellor International, Head the School of Education and Social work University/ Company : University of Sussex, Sussex Address : UK, BN19RH.
Resource Person's Profile :
1. Profile of Simon Thompson Professor Simon Thompson is Head the School of Education and Social work and Deputy Pro-Vice-Chancellor International at the University of Sussex. He is committed to best practice in higher education pedagogies and teacher education and development. After 20 years in university teaching and leadership he was awarded a National Teaching Fellowship for the quality and impact of his contribution. Simon has delivered pedagogic and change leadership courses in Beijing, Cyprus, Nigeria Ghana
Does differentiation mean different? How can we use adaptive teaching to encourage stretch, challenge and support for all our learners? We will explore understandings of the professional knowledge needed to be an effective educator as well as the importance of reflection in understanding the complexity of how we respond to the challenges of education in the 21st Century. The workshop will use facilitated discussion and interactive exercises to exemplify principles for inclusive teaching and participants will be prompted to consider the knowledge, motivation and practical skills required to stretch, challenge and support all learners.
Not Applicable
Coordinator: Teaching Learning Centre of Excellance, VIT, Vellore			